Barre again went "over the top" and on this occasion the action with its re-sulting success all took place in the opera house last evening. A large as-sembly of local talent from the tiniest tots to those more advanced in years did justice under the able training of Miss Eva M. Scates, to the patriotic produc-tion, "Over the Top." The piece is based on "The Man Without a Country," and during the three acts the story is carefully worked into a dream. Although supported admirably by large choruses gave a thoroughly enjoyable evening's entertainment and there is little doubt that even a larger attendance will be on hand to greet the second appearance to night. The production is given under the auspices of the Barre Woman's club The work of Howard Geake as Jack Mason, alias Philip Nolan, stood out prominently and he was also heard to good advantage in a solo number. Nor man Gordon and Lauraine Densmore both lately returned from overseas, had conspicuous parts as captain and ser-geant, respectively. Miss Miriam Hop-kins, in the role of Cynthia Nolan, gave a very pleasing and characteristically true touch to the part. The others the cast were: General Morgan, Eldon Ball; Aaron Burr, Douglas Inglis; Florence Morgan, Julia Stanton; first midshipman, Louis O'Leary; second midshipman, Harold White; third midshipman,

George Douglas; Julius Pons, Aubrey Marrion. The opening scene and number that at once gained the attention of the audience "I Don't Want to Get Well," with George McDonald, the latter a sick solpassed up and down the aisles. Loraine Loranger sang sweetly, "Annie Laurie."
Howard Geake, assisted by eight girls, in a lively manner sang, "It's Time for Every Boy to Be a Soldier." One number which delighted the audience as no other did was, "Somewhere in France is Daddy," solo work by Mrs. W. M. Holden, surrounded by eight little tots in night apparel, each bearing lighted can-dles. The number brought rounds of House buried S. 128, taking the appointment of certain state officers out of the hands of the governor, providing that hearty applause. Mrs. Holden was also pleasing in other solo parts. "Ring Out, Ring Out, Joy Bells of Peace," was well rendered by Miss Leone Reyolds, and Stanley Marsh and six couples had to answer several curtain calls, singing

The closing scene, a trench on the western front in which over a score of men in kbaki took part was one of the enjoyable parts of the entertainment. Miss Mildred Bombard, a Red Cross nurse, in good voice, sang "The Angel God Sent from Heaven." John Duncan caused a veritable uproar in singing, "When Tony Goes Over the Top," his true Italian style being a revelation and delight. James Bennett sang in usual voice, "The Dream of a Soldier Boy," after which the men in uniform "We'll Never Let the Old Flag

Fall "My Daddy's Coming Home," a de lightful number by pretty little Eleanor Lebourveau was well received. Harry Lauder's song, "The Laddies Who Fought and Won," by the company and "The Star Spangled Banner" by the company and audience were the closing numbers. Landi's orchestra furnished music, while Miss Beatrice Papin and Mrs. Reardon acted as accompanists. The same production with a change only of a chorus will be given to-night,

LIEUT. GOV. STONE GOING ABROAD. Will Engage in Y. M. C. A. Educational Work for Six Months.

Lieutenant Governor Mason S. Stone leaves the state to-night for New York ity, and expects to sail before the end of the week for France, where he will spend six months' leave of absence in educational work for the Young Men's Christian association. He expected to report in New York this morning, April available until June 30, 1925, but which as his orders read, but owing to the heavy legislative program in connection with the last days of the legislature, he was unable to get away, and his time was extended.

For some time Lieut. Gov. Stone has been sought by the Y. M. C. A. for edu cational work overseas, but not until recently has it become possible for him to leave. Even now, it is only by means of a special dispensation of the war board of the Y. M. C. > these officers shall be elected by the general assembly in joint session. The vote against the measure was overwhelming, and left no doubt about where the House stood on the bill, which was rushed through the Senate Monday evening. The line-up of the Senate Monday evening in its now famous raid on the gubernatorial power of appointment, in the form of S. 128, introduced, put through all the stages of legislation and passed, was as follows: Voting for the bill, Senators Adams, Amey, Ballou, Bates, Belknap, Billings, Daniels, Hall Hamblett, Hendee, Hill, Jackson, Lewis, Tenney, Vilas; voting against the bill

Senators Carr, LaFleur, McKillip, Morgan, Root and Varsum; absent and not voting, Senators Howland, Kingsley Noonan and Tracy. The report of the committee of confer nce on the budget bill recommended that the Senate recede from the first second, fourth, sixth and eighth propo sals of amendment, and that the House concur in the third and fifth proposals, while both should recede from the seventh proposal, which regards the appro priation for the board of charities and probation. The original appropriation for this department was $20,000. House amended to read $30,000. The Senate put it back at $20,000, and the bill now provides for $25,000. As the bill now provides, from the port of the committee, the publicity des partment gets its full $10,000 (cut to 87,500 by the Senate); the educational department gets its full $264,000 (the Senate tried to cut it to $200,000); the appropriation for grade crossings is from $30,000 to $15,000, as amended by the Senate; the original $35,000 for an mories, but another $35,000 appropri ated by the legislature of 1917, to be has not been needed during year, is cut out; the $1,500 for bountie for animals remains (from which th black bear bounties will be paid); and here is no renumbering of sections, ac ording to the Senate plan.

Mileage for Members.

Under suspension of the rules, JRH. 30, providing for additional mileage for members of the general assembly and its officers, which was reported without recommendation, was read the second and third times and adopted in concurrence vote of 17 to 13. Again the rules were suspended and JRH. 31, relating to pay of certain deceased members of House of Representatives, was adopted in concurrence, as was also JRH. 26, re lating to mileage and per diem for the doorkeepers, cloak room attendants, etc. The latter resolution was adversely re ported, but rejection was refused, 14 to 9 The resolution providing for the per diem and mileage for the chaplains of the two houses was adopted in concurrence and passed in concurrence.

The Senate refused to suspend the rules to consider JRH. 25, providing for an expression of the Vermont legislature with regard to Ireland. The vote on the suspension of the rules was tied and leut, Gov. Stone voted in favor of suspension, but a three-fourths vote being ecessary, the rules were not suspended

To Replace the Machine Bought in 1917 and Which Has Not Worked Satisfactorily, Company's Stipulations Accepted.

As the result of negotiations conduct ed by City Clerk Mackay, the New England Road Machine Co. of Boston has agreed to replace Barre's stone crusher, which has not worked satisfactorily ever since it was bought and set up in 1917. The company asks in return that the for the check plates and jaw plates which had been ordered for old crusher and that the city pay the freight from Boston on the new crusher and the freight to Boston on the old Gov. Stone, who leaves to-night for New crusher; also that the city pay the wages York to sail for France in Y. M. C. A. f an expert to set up the new machine. At a special meeting of the city council last evening it was voted to accept the company's offer, and the old machine will be dismantled and sent back to Boston. The company promised to ship the new machine at once, and so it is expected that the machine will be in operation for use this summer. The old road machine cost in the vicinity of $1,700 and was set up without the services of an expert from the company. Never since it was put into operation had it turned out the caparity which was guaranteed; and after some replacements had been made and dickering with the company seemed to produce no definite results, Clerk Mackay suggested that the city make a positive protest to the company. As a result of his communications, the company made the offer as above outlined.

It was reported adversely and rebeing taken to Waterbury this noon to jected, despite a final effort on the part

The Senate adopted a resolution, introduced by Senator Vilas, extending best tions informing the governor and the House that the Senste had completed its business and was ready to adjourn withadopted in the House.

Until nearly 2 o'clock this morning the legislators sang and shouted, whooped and yelled like a pack of schoolboys on the last day of school. Everybody got hit at least once with a paper wad fired from the hands of some friend who had sometime during the session fired vocal volleys in his direction. And it was all in the game, "when good fellows get together." Amid it all, the "good-byes" were being said, for many left on the early morning trains.

Among the legislation which was finished up during the wee small hours of the morning was the state tax bill (H. 332), which was passed in concurrence by the Senate, with proposals of amendment to create a so-called civilian war tax, consisting of an extra $2 added to the poll of each taxpayer who was not in the military or naval service of the country during the war, this to continue for 10 years, which would practically take up the bonds issued for the $1,500. 000 to give state pay to drafted men. With this amendment in force, the state tax for the next two years would be reduced to 30 cents on a dollar.

When the House learned of this proposal of amendment, every member who had left, and could be reached, was brought back in order that a quorum might be present to consider this measure. Shortly after midnight the House was assembled and the bill taken up Mr. Dunham of Brattleboro and others called attention to the unfairness of this amendment, which would place the burden of the tax on the poor man instead of on the man who was able to pay it. The amendment was rejected by an overwhelming vote. A little later the Senate voted to recede from its proposals of amendment, and the bill went to the governor. Other legislation of the midnight session was the adoption on the part of both the Senate and House of the conference report on S. 123, relating to the conveyance of the record title to real estate where the record holder is deceased, his estate unsettled, and without beneficial interest in the property, the report recommending that the Senate recede from its proposal of amendment.

One of the strange happenings of the losing hours was the action taken on 5. 118, relating to the sale of intoxicating liquors, and prohibiting same after Mrs. Mary (Hayes) Barton, formerly the Sheppard amendment goes into efof Barre, died at 4 o'clock this morning feet. A committee of conference report on the measure recommended that the influenza. She went from Barre to ment, including fifth-class licenses in Montpelier a short time ago to reside those prohibited.
